QUESTION-BOX:

1. In laying a mile of 6-inch main, would it be best to use cast iron pipe with leaded or cement joints, or wrought iron pipe with screw connections? 332
2. What ought to constitute an average yield of tar per ton of coal carbonized? 333
3. How many thousand feet of gas, under favorable circumstances, ought a bushel of stone lime, slacked, to purify? 333
4. Is 38 bushels per ton, and 42 pounds per bushel, an excessive yield of coke per ton of coal carbonized—an overweight for a bushel of coke? 334
5. What amount of tar is made in the manufacture of water gas per 1,000 feet, and what is the proportion to amount of tar made in coal gas? 334
6. Will water gas consume as fast as coal gas, other conditions being equal? 334
7. Will water gas consume faster than coal gas in running a gas engine, other conditions being equal? 334

QUESTION-BOX:

1. Is a gas engine satisfactory for furnishing power for a small electric light plant? 562
2. With an output of 10 millions feet per annum, is it cheaper to run a steam jet exhauster than a rotary? 563
3. About what is the highest temperature applied in regenerative benches? In benches with inclined retorts? In common benches? And which degree of heat is most favorable for producing marketable tar? 561
4. Has there been a successful and economical fuel gas produced for general distribution? 563
5. What does the Association know about the so-called "sanitary gas"? 563
6. What are the functions of the ordinary wet scrubbers in a properly designed water gas plant? 563
7. In making water gas, what effect will long and short runs have on the uniformity of candle power? 564
8. What must be the strength of ammoniacal liquor in order that a pound of it will yield a pound of sulphate of ammonia? 514
9. Is it possible by the use of street main governers to prevent the fluctuation of gas at consumer's meters, or are governor burners the only remedy? 522
10. Is it usual in Ohio for plumbers or gas fitters to run the service pipes for gas supply from curbstone to the meter? 564
11. What remedy is applied where a consumer using only from 300 to 800 feet of gas per annum applies for a meter? 564
12. A question as to why the top layer of iron oxide in purifier box remained clean while the rest of the material became foul? 564
13. What experience has been had in storing gas liquor above 8 ounces strong in cemented cisterns? What is the strongest liquor that can be shipped without danger? 514
14. Should a small coal gas plant in Ohio be renewed for coal or some other system? 564
15. As to the use of the "cartridge" in enriching coal gas.. 565
16. What is the proper method of making cement joints in street mains, and what are the proper proportions of cement and sand? 565
17. What is the best and cheapest method of enriching coal gas with crude oil? 565
18. Is there a market for ammoniacal liquor as found in small works, or does it have to be of a stipulated strength before it has a market value 515
19. What is the relative value of crude oil and "distillate," in candle power per gallon, where both have been tried in the same water gas apparatus? 565
20. What relative results have been attained in respect to coal and coke consumption and capacity of apparatus per hour, with crude oil and distillate? 565
21. What is the proper relative position of the condenser and scrubber in a water gas plant with a relief holder? 563
22. Are not two scrubbers, one wet and one dry, preferable to and more effective than one multitubular condenser and one scrubber? 565
23. Should gas companies, as such, contribute toward the World's Fair gas buildings and exhibit? 566
24. Is there manufactured a lava tip especially made for high candle power water gas? 566

QUESTION-BOX:

1. What experience has been had in the spontaneous combustion of coal; and what is the best preventive of same? 848
2. Does it pay to dispense with stopcocks and boxes on service pipes? 923
3. In revivifying oxide in the off box, without removal of same, is it best to use steam where it will come into contact with the material, or blow air through without steam? 923
4. After revivifying oxide, why is water thrown on it before replacing it in the box? 924
5. In making water gas by the cupola system, can 30 candle gas be made as economically as 20? 814
6. In carbureting gas with oil burned in retorts, how can the oil supply be regulated to the heats so as to produce the best results? 814
7. Can anyone give the facts in regard to the Harris process of gas making? 924
8. Are there any successful methods for recovering the iron from the spent oxide? 925
9. Are gas companies that own and operate electric light plants satisfied with the profits they are making in that line of their business? 925
10. What should be the minimum cost per 1,000 cubic feet for purification of water gas? 925
11. Is it possible to ignite an explosive mixture of gas and air from a lighted pipe or cigar? 925
12. In the manufacture of water gas, which is the cheaper material, crude oil at 2 cents per gallon, or gas naphtha at 4 cents? 814
13. What would be an equitable rule for the valuation of ammoniacal liquor from the gas works for seller and purchaser? 926
14. What is the best and most equitable way to sell coke—by weight or by measure? 926
15. By what method, or in what manner, can the ammoniacal liquor of small gas plants be most profitably utilized? 926
